

Porsche Panamera GTS

In spring 2012, Porsche launches the Panamera GTS. With the Sport Design front end, and the rear spoiler taken over from the Panamera Turbo, the Gran Turismo Sport – or GTS for short – is instantly recognisable. The V8 engine puts out 30 hp more than the base unit and is the most powerful naturally aspirated motor in the model family. Ex-works, the Panamera GTS comes with the seven-speed PDK and the Sport Chrono Package. This package enables an even sportier tuning of the chassis, engine and transmission. Porsche Traction Management (PTM) comprises active all-wheel drive. The high-performance brake comes from the Panamera Turbo. At the push of a button the Sound Symposer System makes the V8 sound even brawnier.
